

Predictions

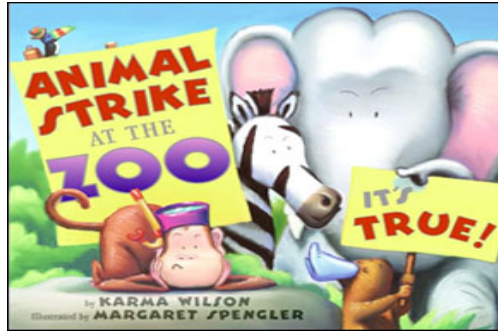

The lions aren't roaring.
The eagles aren't soaring.
The penguins are snoring.
It's all rather boring.
What can the zookeeper do?
There's an animal strike at the zoo!

LEVEL 1

My Prediction is that the zookeeper will give the animals what they want.

Predictions

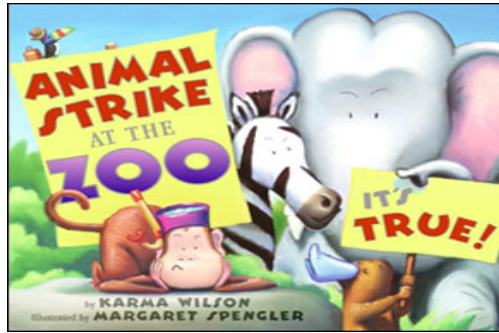

The lions aren't roaring.
The eagles aren't soaring.
The penguins are snoring.
It's all rather boring.
What can the zookeeper do?
There's an animal strike at the zoo!

LEVEL 2

My Prediction is that the zookeeper
will give the animals what they want because they mentioned many things that they wanted.

Predictions

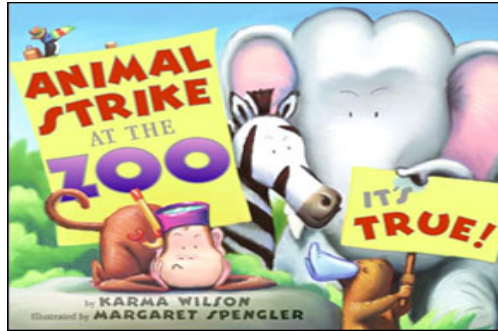

The lions aren't roaring.
The eagles aren't soaring.
The penguins are snoring.
It's all rather boring.
What can the zookeeper do?
There's an animal strike at the zoo!

LEVEL 3

My Prediction is that the zookeeper will do whatever the animals want because in the story they mentioned many things that they wanted. For example, the monkeys said, "We want a nice pool in our pen!" and the zebras said, "We're all sick and tired of eating this hay! Our good looks do NOT come for free!"

Predictions

The lions aren't roaring.
The eagles aren't soaring.
The penguins are snoring.
It's all rather boring.
What can the zookeeper do?
There's an animal strike at the zoo!

LEVEL 4

My Prediction is that the zookeeper will do whatever the animals want because in the story they mentioned many things that they wanted. For example, the monkeys said, "We want a nice pool in our pen!" and the zebras said, "We're all sick and tired of eating this hay! Our good looks do NOT come for free!" Giving the animals what they want will make them feel appreciated. In return, they will actually like what they do and return back to work. Everyone will be happy in the end.